e-learning

Effective and engaging e-learning solutions enable you to access training whenever and wherever you need it.

AVELING provides public courses along with a full range of customised e-learning services.

Inductions

where immediate integration of staff is needed, e-learning delivers a clear, consistent message rapidly and effectively.

Safety Training

practice emergency procedures, implement safety policies and spot safety hazards before doing it in the real world.

Technical Training

practice using systems and demonstrate ability to use it before going onto the 'live' system.

Sales and Product Training

keep staff current and knowledgeable about your company's products and services.

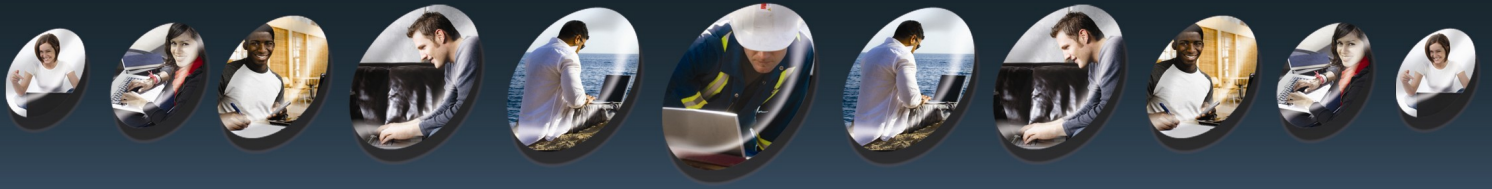

Soft-Skills Training

scenarios, virtual simulations and interactive games challenge peoples' ability to think on their feet and respond to common real world challenges.

Hosting Solutions

host your online program on our in-house Learning Management System (LMS) which is accessible from any internet enabled machine. We can also deploy custom solutions to your special requirements.

people e-learning solutions

AVELING is proud of its highly engaging and effective e-learning solutions, which are aimed at both businesses and the general public.

We build on our strength as one of Western Australia's most successful Registered Training Organisations (RTO) 50503 to deliver e-learning solutions that produce effective training results.

AVELING has over ten years training experience and a comprehensive e-learning and business team, enabling us to deliver at the highest quality standards.

Benefits of e-learning

By using e-learning, your organisation can:

- Deliver highly interactive, flexible and cost effective training materials. Scenarios, simulations and interactive exercises are all examples of e-learning.
- Develop learning solutions that combine proven instructional design principles with leading-edge interactive multimedia.
- Frequently challenge and assess learners' understanding, making for a more effective learning experience.
- Allow learners to take courses in their own time and at their own pace. Courses can be taken in one sitting or over smaller sessions, increasing retention of the content.
- Significantly reducing employees' time away from their day-to-day job.
- Considerably lowers ongoing costs when compared to other forms of training.

Building Your Solution

Your expectations and needs are at the forefront of everything we do. We believe that a successful training solution is achieved through a healthy working relationship with our clients.

Our development methodology involves:

- Training Needs Analysis
- Concept Design
- Content and Assessment Development
- Solution Delivery and Maintenance
